

Infantry Show Packs Action

Climax of the "Here's Your Infantry" demonstration assault on a Japanese pillbox is the wiping out of the enemy position by flame-throwers at close range. Pictured above is a flame-thrower in action, the operator protected by automatic rifles. "Here's Your Infantry" tells the story of our footslogging Doughboys in down-to-earth language, and shows how WAR BONDS fight the enemy. At the same time weapons bought by WAR BONDS are explained and demonstrated, culminating in a simulated battle. "Here's Your Infantry" will be at Reilly stadium next Thursday night.

Japanese 'Victory'

PREMIER SUZUKI of Japan is rejoicing because his people "have come to concern themselves with the fate of the nation." He says he never agreed with those who considered the Okinawa fight climactic. He says he is going to win a great victory even if there are no Japanese left alive to enjoy it.

In this he can be assured of the utmost in American co-operation. Such as that just promised by General Arnold and LeMay, who are preparing to send Mr. Suzuki and his people two million tons of bombs in the coming year—a rate of bombing seven or eight times greater than that at present.

All the Japanese have to do, says Suzuki, is to smash the American forces at sea, then when they come ashore (presumably after being smashed at sea) smash them again right there, and then after these (presumably smashed) forces have attained the land, smash them again. MacArthur and Nimitz combined could not display a clearer insight into what it will take to whip the Americans.

Suzuki proposes to achieve victory with forces "far inferior to the enemy materially" through a true display of Japanese mettle. One of my associates, to whom I speak only on Tuesdays and Fridays because of his propensity for trading remarks, would call that trading mettle for metal.

Do you suppose Suzuki can be hoping to win this war by making us die laughing?

Seriously, it is not a good thing to sneer at or make fun of an enemy even when he talks this way. It leads to overconfidence, which already has cost us dearly at certain points in this war. It leads to such things as the reductions in tank and ammunition production before Germany was whipped. It leads to nations which begin to feel so "superior" that they get themselves into wars.

AIR ATTACKS ON JAPAN TO BE INCREASED

Utter Destruction Will Result From Daily 5,480-Ton Blows

(By Associated Press)
GUAM, June 15.—The "complete and utter destruction" of Japan in air attacks will reach the rate of 2,000,000 tons of bombs a year by July 1 was promised today by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of United States Army Air Forces.
"If that is what Japan wants, that is what she is going to get," Arnold vowed at a press conference.
"It is going to be a terrible place to live in."
Arnold announced that while he was speaking, 520 Superfortresses were showering 3,000 tons of fire bombs on the great Osaka industrial region this morning. One year ago today, B-29s flew from China for their first raid on Japan.
Arnold's 2,000,000 tons a year forecasts 5,480 tons every day. The greatest single day's raid to date was a 4,500-ton onslaught on Tokyo May 24.

Five Key Cities Are Targets
"It is necessary to destroy five key cities—Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka," Arnold stated.
Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the 21st Bomber command, which Arnold is visiting here, said today's raid on Osaka may have ended the need for further incendiary treatment of that greatest of the enemy's industrial cities. The previous four attacks had burned out about 15 square miles of Osaka. Kobe, Yokohama and Kawasaki are "gone," and only a few targets remain in Nagoya, LeMay declared, while previous raids have burned out 50 square miles of Tokyo, leaving only 10 square miles in which the American bombers are "interested."

"It is just a matter of time until we get everything of value in Japan," LeMay said.
Gen. Arnold made clear that this time was not far off. The results so far have been accomplished with about 75,000 tons of bombs, Arnold's figures showed.

The greatest month was May, when 24,000 tons were dropped, yet the rate he promised by July would be more than 166,000 tons a month.
"Starting July 1 we are going to drop 1,300,000 tons and forces of Gen. George C. Kenney (commander of the United States Far Eastern Air Forces) 700,000 tons," Arnold asserted.

Braving humid temperatures in the Memorial building, some 140 Kiwanians, representing clubs in the 10th Ohio district, last night heard Dr. Russell C. Humbert of Youngstown speak at the annual district rally, which was held under the auspices of the Salem club.

Dr. Humbert, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church in Youngstown, presented a live, entertaining analysis of what he termed "this post-war self inventory." He pointed out the things he believes are important in a man's life and the things he believes a man should attempt to achieve.

A. P. Morris, former club president, presented to the Salem board of education, guests at the affair, a Maico audiometer for use in the Salem public schools.

Supt. E. S. Kerr, a Kiwanian, explained that the instrument is used to measure the loss of hearing. He said it can be operated by a nurse or a trained teacher but the results must be interpreted by a family physician or hearing specialist.

Herbert C. Doughty of Portsmouth, district governor, spoke briefly praising the Salem club on the splendid manner in which they handled the rally.

Pete Land of Akron, district secretary, introduced Rev. Humbert, who formerly was an Akron Kiwanian and later a member in Toledo. He served as a club president in both cities.

Music was provided by the Ceramale quartet of East Liverpool.

Dr. George Jones acted as toastmaster for the affair.

A number of early arrivals yesterday participated in a golf get-together at the Salem Golf club in the afternoon.

Find Body of Alliance Man In Mahoning River

ALLIANCE, June 15.—Alliance police and Stark county deputies were investigating the cause of the death of Michael Ganslein, 70, whose body was found floating in the Mahoning river near the north city limits yesterday afternoon.

A passerby noticed the body which was pulled from the river before the arrival of police and firemen. Police Chief H. L. Stark said there were no marks on the body and indications were that Ganslein had drowned. Stark County Coroner Herman Welland is to investigate.

SALEM, June 15.—Mayor G. C. Rauch announced today that the Lisbon council and the Ohio Edison Co. have entered into a new contract whereby a savings of $389.40 per year will be made by the village in its lighting program.

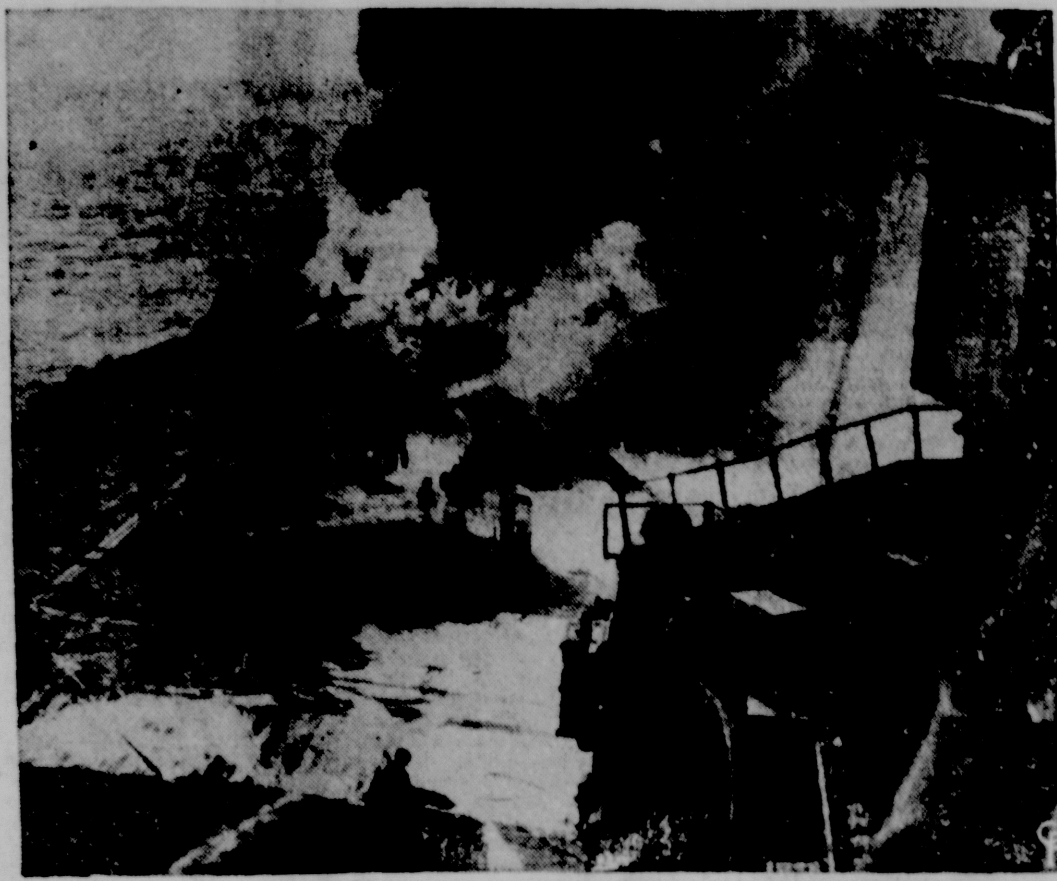

The offer accepted by the village from the Ohio Edison is for a new five-year street lighting contract, which, by mutual consent, may run for an additional five years.

Statements showing that Lisbon's present lighting cost is $4,883.40 were presented and under the new contract, which will become effective in 1946, the cost will be only $4,494.

Famed Aircraft Carrier Rejoins Fleet After Repairs Are Made

By POPE HALEY
WASHINGTON, June 15.—The Navy disclosed today that the famous old Aircraft Carrier Saratoga had sustained tremendous damage in the early stages of the battle for Iwo Jima.

But she now has been fully repaired and is back in there, pitching again.
Seven direct bomb hits, including some by suicide-planes, struck the carrier, causing 315 casualties, including 123 killed, missing or dead of wounds, and 192 wounded.

On Feb. 21, two days after Iwo Jima D-day, she was cruising with a fast carrier task group northeast of the island. Four days earlier her planes had joined in plastering Tokyo.

The Navy described the action against "Sara" as one of the most concentrated attacks in which a carrier has survived, which might have sunk any other ship.

Damage Extensive
"The Saratoga," said the yard's hull superintendent, "was the most extensively damaged vessel the Puget Sound navy yard has received."

The carrier was launching her planes in the Iwo Jima action when an estimated nine or 10 Japanese bombers closed in. Four were shot down but four others managed to crash and bomb the ship. A fifth, after it was knocked down along-side the vessel, cartwheeled off the water and exploded, tearing a large hole in the carrier's side. A bomb from another plane blew a hole in

Two Are Killed In Crash of Airplane

YOUNGSTOWN, June 15.—John A. McCabe, 36, of Youngstown, and Peter C. Smith, of nearby Campbell were killed last night in the crash of McCabe's two-passenger plane near here.

Carl W. Smith, a farmer, said the plane appeared to be stunting before the crash.
"Suddenly it went into a spin and plummeted to earth," he said.

The victims' bodies were removed from the wreckage two hours later.

McCabe was owner of the plane. Smith, a mechanics instructor at Bernard airport and old-time barnstorming pilot, is survived by his wife, and a son and daughter.

More Shoes For Boys

WASHINGTON, June 15.—To alleviate a shortage the War Production board today permitted the manufacture of boys shoes by producers of Men's work shoes.

The decision will permit shoe manufacturers who have unused quotas of work shoes, for which the demand is reduced, to use up their production quotas in the manufacture of boys' shoes in sizes one to six.

British Nab Von Ribbentrop, Ex-Nazi Minister, In Hamburg

(By Associated Press)
FIELD MARSHAL MONTGOMERY'S HEADQUARTERS, Germany, June 15.—Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop was captured yesterday as he slept nude in a Hamburg boarding house, bringing to a close the most intensive manhunt in Europe since V-E day.
Von Ribbentrop, understood to be wanted by the governments of at least 10 nations to stand trial for war crimes, was the last top-ranking Nazi known to be alive who had eluded capture. A can of poison was found strapped to his body, but he surrendered this voluntarily.
The dandified former Champagne salesman who became the engineer of Hitler's arrogant foreign policy, had been hiding in Hamburg since April 30. The man who had imposed his diplomatic will on Europe had not a friend in all of Germany's second largest city who would assist him actively in obtaining refuge.
Sister Aids Identification
Von Ribbentrop said he had intended to hide until British feeling about him died down, and then attempt to save his life in a trial. He went to a wine merchant friend, he said—a man who had known him 25 years. The merchant shunned him. Von Ribbentrop, using the name "Riese," got lodging with an unsuspecting landlady.
By keeping the arrest secret over night, British sleuths who had tailed Von Ribbentrop across much of western Germany managed to arrest his sister. Today, in a hysterical scene, she identified the foreign minister.
A special plane was promised today to fly correspondents to the secret interrogation camp where Von Ribbentrop is being held, but correspondents will not be permitted to talk to him. Von Ribbentrop was expected to be taken to Luebenburg airport today on the first leg of his journey to an English prison.
Found on Von Ribbentrop were three letters, addressed respectively to Field Marshal Montgomery, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and to Prime Minister Winston Churchill.
Hitler's foreign minister was believed to have been the man who influenced the German leader to risk the wrath of Britain and France in 1933.
Architect of the anti-Comintern pact, Von Ribbentrop reached the peak of his power when the Nazi armies marched into Russia in 1941. Two years before he had signed Germany's non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Big Superforts Bomb Osaka For Knockout

By LEIF ERICKSON

GUAM, June 15.—A force of 520 Superforts fought weather—so thick it broke up their formations—halfway to Japan and back again today to unload 3,000 tons of incendiaries in what they hoped would be a knockout blow to Osaka, Japan's greatest industrial city, and neighboring Amagasaki.

Bombardiers released their incendiaries by instruments. Clouds were so thick they blotted out any view of the resulting fires, which Tokyo admitted were started at "a number of points."

No Enemy Planes
The weather was so thick the fliers "couldn't keep formations of more than two planes," said Capt. Charles B. Miller, Richmond, Va.

No airmen reported seeing enemy interceptors and only one flier in the 314th wing reported seeing flak. The raid was acknowledged by Tokyo to have lasted at least an hour.

The first enemy reports also omitted the usual quick claims of B-29s shot down. A later broadcast said the many fires were "in the process of being extinguished."

The Marianas-based sky dreadnaughts unloaded their jellied gasoline bombs on steel, iron and precision works of southeastern Osaka and, for the first time, hit the industrial city of Amagasaki to the northwest.

Public's Rationing Queries Keep Board's Phone Ringing Daily

Have you heard the latest rationing rumors about how much more gasoline you can now get on a B card and how potatoes and eggs are either "frozen" or will be in the near future, preparatory to rationing?

If you have and you are wondering just what the latest official information on those subjects is, note the following.

In the first place B gasoline rationing regulations have been relaxed to raise the ceiling on B card holders from the old 475 miles a month to 650 miles a month.

However, few B card holders will be allowed this increase.

Ration boards will have to say "no" to a lot of applicants. You must prove the necessity for more mileage under a B card in order to get an increase. The boost is not automatic to all B card holders.

The raise was instigated to benefit such people as insurance men, salesmen, and the like, who have not been getting enough gas. Requirements such as driving to and from work in a war plant, etc., do not call for increases under the new regulations.

A new provision also says that a sticker for the windshield of your car is no longer needed, regardless of your ration classification.

Applications for increases in B cards are acceptable at the Salem board now. If your B card expires within 30 days, file a completely new application and you will be granted your increase for the balance of your present period along with your next period's B stamps. This is being done to save double processing by the board of any rationers nearly expired.

The rumors about eggs and potatoes are completely unfounded as far as local ration board officials have been informed. No rationing is on and none is contemplated. Officials here say. Potatoes and eggs do not take points.

The board office has been swamped with calls for the past few days asking if the egg and potato story, heard originally on the radio, is true. It definitely is not as far as the latest Office of Price Administration memoranda to Salem have shown.

FIRE RAID ON JAP COMMAND POST IS MADE

Marines Will Drive Japs Into Sea Within Next Two Weeks

(By Associated Press)

GUAM, June 15.—Tenth army forces strove for a quick knockout blow on the supreme command post of the tottering Japanese defense on Okinawa today as signs pointed with increasing certainty to the folding up of the doomed garrison.

The 96th division, supported by flame throwing tanks, captured Yaeju peak, the highest promontory of the Yaeju-Dake last ditch defense escarpment, nick-named "Big Apple" by the Yanks.

The hill overlooks the plateau which was the enemy's principal defense ground on the southern line.

Only the advance of the Seventh division, moving in from the east flank to high ground on the left of "Big Apple," remains to set the stage for sweeping the enemy from the plateau and onto the slopes which lead toward the sea.

700 Japs Surrender
Japanese surrenders increased to 700 and advancing Americans counted the bodies of scores of others who had committed suicide.

Maj. Gen. Pedro Del Valle, commander of the Marine First division which holds Kunishi ridge on the right flank, commented that the Japanese may be "crushed in two days—or two weeks. It all depends on how lucky we are."

"If we could hit their command, the whole defense might fall to pieces," Del Valle, commander of the First Marine division, told Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopping on Okinawa.

Not long after the general talked with Dopping, 64 Marine Corsair fighters speared a ravine believed to house Japanese headquarters with 12,220 gallons of jellied gasoline and poured 465 rockets into caves where the enemy's top officers were believed quartered.

A sheet of flame quickly covered two acres and smoke was so dense it obscured some of the attacking planes. It was the greatest fire raid of the Okinawa campaign.

A majority of the Japanese on Okinawa—perhaps 10,000 of an original 85,000—were believed to be naval construction or anti-aircraft personnel (laborers) with a nucleus of infantrymen.

Although hundreds quit the futile fight, other thousands of Japanese fought fanatically along the full length of their Yaeju escarpment line.

On the western flank, Del Valle's Leathernecks were subjected to heavy fire from the area southeast of Ozato town.

The Seventh regiment moved up to help consolidate the First regiment's positions.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS IN COUNTY STARTED

Columbiana County Engineer Charles Snyder has started work on the job of improving 90 miles of main highways throughout the county.

The contract was awarded early this spring to the Ohio Road Improvement Co. of Columbus by the State Highway department and the work is being done by the state in conjunction with the county maintenance forces. A total of 500,000 gallons of liquid asphalt mixture is to be applied to the roads at a cost of approximately $53,336.

Work was started in the western part of the county beginning with the East Rochester-Chambersburg-Reading highway and it is expected that roads in all sections of the county will be included in the program where improvements are needed.

Mullins Scholarships

Most industrialists have long believed that industry owes and should pay more to the community than mere jobs. In announcing its scholarship plan for engineering courses in college, the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. launches a project that is an expression of that basic principle.

The awarding of scholarships to high school students selected for ability and merit is not only a benefit to the fortunate individuals, but is an incentive to many others. The plan combines educational vision and fine practical advantages to the scholarship winners as well as to the company. The benefits derived by both accrue to the benefit of the community.

The interest of far-sighted industries in selecting and helping ambitious and capable young men is important for the general welfare. The Mullins organization is to be commended for leading the way in Salem.

The Other Question

Westbrook Pegler's disclosure of a curious financial transaction in which John Hartford, wealthy figure in the chain store grocery field, lent Elliott Roosevelt, then entering the radio business, $200,000 on collateral later turned in for $4,000 raises two questions.

The first question is obvious: Why did Mr. Hartford put up $200,000 on bad collateral?

The second question, less obvious, is probably more important: Why didn't Mr. Hartford refuse to put up $200,000 on bad collateral?

The investigation almost certain to follow this strange deal may disclose reasons why a private citizen could have been interested in the proposition made by the son of the late chief executive of the United States. That would be one thing. It might have been a matter of Mr. Hartford's financial judgment.

But if, in his judgment, the proposition was unsound and therefore not interesting, it will become of transcendent importance to know why such a loan was made. Brig. Gen. Roosevelt, fortunately, is available, as is also Mr. Hartford.

Hardy Perennial

There is one angle of the annual congressional antics on the poll tax issue that nearly always is neglected. If Congress adopted the proposal to forbid poll taxes, the fight would not be over. In all probability, the Supreme court thereupon would discover that Congress lacked power to legislate on a matter hitherto reserved to the states.

The ultimate effect of the proposal, however, may not be to tempt Congress into a trespass on state jurisdiction. It may be to bring all states into line on a policy for which there can be no excusable alternative. Ultimately, if representative democracy is to survive, state poll taxes and the conditions that seemed to make them desirable when they were enacted will disappear. Until that happens, proposals to force the issue with a questionable exercise of federal authority will continue to be made and no doubt will continue to get the same treatment.

The treatment is standardized. A poll tax bill is introduced in both houses of Congress. It is smothered in committee, forced out of committee by a discharge petition, adopted by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate, where it sets off a filibuster. In order to stop the filibuster, the proposal is abandoned until the next session of Congress. The treatment now has advanced to the Senate, a filibuster stage.

Putting Two and Two Together

Recent estimates by the Brookings Institution on the high cost of government after the war suggest why there suddenly is so much official interest in postwar employment at the highest possible level. Americans will need to be busier and more productive than they ever were before to support their government in the style to which it is accustomed.

The estimates have the peacetime budget running more than 22 billions annually, three times the highest prewar figure. States and local governments are expected to run about 25 per cent higher. War-inflated military spending will shrink, but postwar national defense will never be again the inconsequential item of approximately a billion dollars that it used to be. In 1949, it may run close to eight billion. In that same year, veterans' benefits will amount to almost three billion. The federal debt, which by that time will be well over 300 billion, will take about five billion in interest charges.

It is the cost of the debt that furnishes the clearest index to what has happened to the nation in the era of deficit spending. In 1931, the total appropriations by the federal government reached a little more than five billion dollars. The public debt that year stood at less than 17 billion dollars. At the end of World War II, it will cost taxpayers as much to pay a low interest rate on what the government borrowed to pay its bills as it used to cost to pay for the whole government, including high interest on the debt then in existence.

Gov. Lausche Will Fight It Out

Every Ohioan needs to keep an eye on Gov. Lausche's position in the Daniels-Cramer school bill. When he vetoed this legislation Tuesday, he called for a showdown on reckless spending in Ohio.

The governor's budget had recommended a substantial increase for school aid in the next two years. But the school lobby asked for more, an increase of $16,642,000, according to Mr. Lausche's figures, or approximately twice as much as he believed justifi-fiable. His recommendation was for a total of $109,759,208, compared with $101,118,000 available the preceding two years—an increase of only $8,641,208.

It is more than a question of how much state aid the school lobby requires of the General Assembly. The real issue is between a governor pledged to be careful of Ohio's money and an opposition determined to make him abandon his pledge.

It is to Gov. Lausche's credit that he never has wavered in his position. When the Daniels-Cramer bill was introduced in the state senate early in April, he opposed it. When it passed the senate and reached the house of representatives, he opposed it. He said he would veto it if it reached his desk.

The Daniels-Cramer bill was become the first major test of Mr. Lausche's political prestige in Ohio. If the spenders and pressure blocs know that he can be made to knuckle down on this issue, he will be their prisoner for the remainder of his term. Other similar issues are in the offing.

"My experience as chief executive of governmental offices has taught me that there is no limit to the amount of money that public officials are capable of spending," Gov. Lausche points out in his veto message. "Regardless of the generous moneys that are provided by the taxpayers, there are recurring demands for more money. The maw is never appeased, much less satisfied."

If some school districts need to make financial adjustments, they can always ask the taxpayers they serve for a vote on special levies. Where they have a strong case, there can be no objection to this procedure. It never was intended that the state aid program should replace local initiative, but only that it should become a financial foundation.

The Stars Say

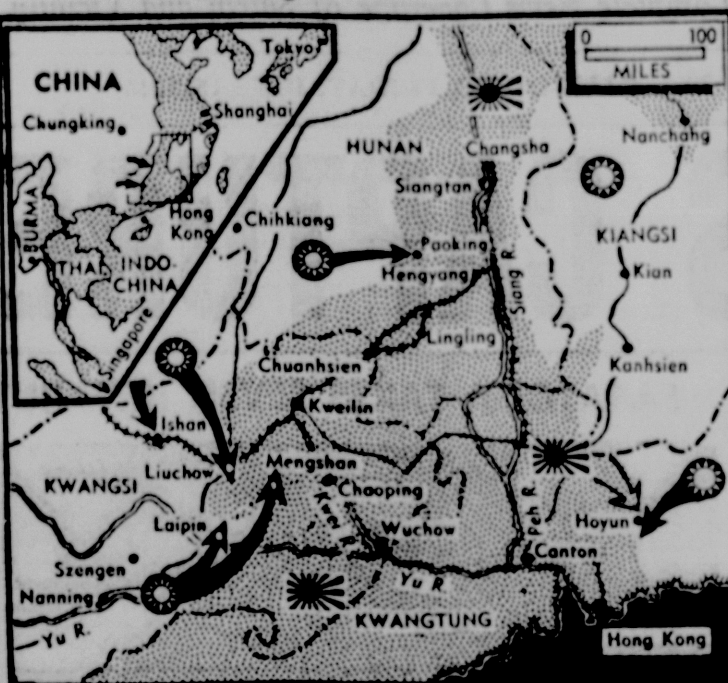

For Saturday, June 16.

THE MUTUAL aspects, as well as lunar transits, emphasize romantic, social, domestic and pleasant rather than workaday activities, although any efforts in this direction might be assured success and satisfaction. Happy and lucrative relations might be established, although there might be sudden change, broken ties or in some instances estrangements or disruptions. On journeys or removal be alert to accidents. Compromise or the interventions of elderly relatives might bring happy endings. Be tactful.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a pleasant, profitable and progressive year, in which intimate or personal affairs are to the fore. Sentimental, social, artistic and domestic associations take precedence over business affairs, although these are under beneficent and promising vibrations. A sign of upset, change, disruption or estrangements might be discreetly handled by vigilance, restraint of the emotions, or the wise counsel of elders or sympathetic relatives. Tact and amiability win out against abrupt and bitter conduct. Try finesse.

A child born on this day, although kindly, lovable and gracious, may be erratic, over-emotional and rash or restive.

China Regains Lost Air Base

The big former American air base at Luichow has been recaptured by veteran Chinese troops after seven months of Japanese occupation, according to unconfirmed reports. This city, shown on above map, is the largest rail and road center in south China. Its capture severs Jap supply routes from Hong Kong to inner China and the south. Chinese continue drive on Hong Kong after halting Jap counter drive (open arrow), press on Paoting, and batter isolated Ishan.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Effect and Action of Mineral Oil

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OF all the mild laxative substances, mineral oil is probably used most frequently. For this reason, Dr. Charles A. Anderson and his co-workers of Burlington, North Carolina, have made a study of its effects and action.

Many statements have been made concerning the possible harmful effects of mineral oil. It has been stated that it may retard digestion by coating the particles of food; that it interferes with the absorption of the products of digestion; that it may cause an excessive loss of mineral salts, such as lime and phosphorus, and interfere with the absorption of vitamin "A."

An Excellent Effect

On the other hand, these physicians think that when mineral oil is employed by giving it directly by injection into the lower bowel it has an excellent effect and they have found it most useful in the treatment of cases of severe constipation.

They found that mineral oil has a most effective soothing action on the irritated rectum. By its soothing action, it reduces spasticity or contractions of the bowel. Because of its weight and bulk it acts as a mild stimulant.

When mineral oil is given by injection into the lower bowel, it acts on this part of the intestine only. It permits complete digestion of the food in the small intestine.

Better Results

In 100 patients treated in this way, it was found the more severe the symptoms the better were the results. Patients with mild constipation due to weakness of the bowel muscles reported little if any improvement. In the severe cases of constipation, and in all cases of rectal irritation with or without a spastic bowel, good results were obtained. In fact, there were no failures in the treatment in those instances in which there has been irritation of the rectum.

Relief of spasticity occurred with surprising promptness. It would appear that the oil acts as a soothing protective agent which gradually permits the tissue to recover and the muscles to regain their normal strength.

Bedtime Dose

In most instances, the patients used the oil only at bedtime. However, when there were severe cases of piles, better results were obtained when a small amount of the oil was injected after each bowel movement. Some patients could not retain the oil and in these cases petroleum jelly or petrolatum was also used by putting it into the lower bowel.

In constipation occurring in babies and small children, it would appear that this method of treating constipation has been found quite satisfactory. It would seem that the more severe the constipation and the greater the spasticity of the bowel, the better were the results obtained.

Questions and Answers

P. T.:—I am sixty-seven and have been taking treatment for proctitis. Is there any hope?

Answer:—Proctitis means inflammation of the rectum. Such inflammation may be due to an infection but may also come from certain types of tumor growths. A careful study should be made to determine the cause for the condition. Then proper treatment can be carried out. Whether or not recovery will occur in your case would depend

May Make Combat Planes From Glass

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — The Air Technical Service command believes there can be something new under the sun—a glass airplane.

And according to ATSC engineers, flyers can "cast all the stones" they care to, for even high-explosive projectiles can be fired into the glass fiber fuselage of this first successful plastic plane without causing detonation.

Col. Nelson S. Talbot, chief of the Chicago Mid-Central of ATSC, said this prototype for future combat and civilian planes is made of such low density material that it will not "flow" under fire.

Constructively speaking, the plastic planes is 50 per cent stronger, yet lighter than metal fabrication. No bolts or rivets appear to mar external contours.

Piles of glass cloth impregnated with a newly developed resin are placed over a mold in building the plastic planes, thus building up laminated sheets into the size, shape and thickness desired.

Later these sheets are transferred to another mold, the assembly it covered with a blanket and sealed, then cured in an oven.

According to Talbot, the first plastic model has been flown for over a year and under all conditions. A second trainer is being produced now at Wright Field using different assembly techniques, he added.

The equipment and clothing of GI Joe is 15 pounds lighter today than it was in 1941, through the efforts of the Army's Quartermaster Corps. This means a saving of about 100 tons in the average infantry division and releases much truck and cargo space for more essential war materials.

OPA CUTS SUGAR FOR INDUSTRIES

WASHINGTON, June 15—Cuts in industrial sugar allotments to a level generally 37½ per cent under a year ago were ordered today for the July-September quarter.

The slash, made by OPA to bring use in line with scarce supplies, trims the new commercial quotas by from 23 to 8 per cent below the current April-June ration.

Most industrial users, including ice cream and bottled beverage producers, take the maximum cut and thus are reduced to 50 per cent of their 1941 base period use. Last year they were receiving 80 per cent.

Such firms as bakers and cereal manufacturers are reduced to 60 per cent of base use, or a 20 per cent cut from the present quarter. Pharmaceutical firms go to 110 per cent of base use from 120, an 8 per cent reduction.

Commercial canners of fruit take an average 20 per cent cut from the 1944 level.

Overissuance Blamed
Industrial users serving 117 countries and seven cities will get moderate increases, to compensate for population gains. On the other hand, the allotments of firms serving 59 countries will be further reduced because of population declines.

OPA noted that while the third quarter civilian sugar allocation of 1,380,000 tons is only 10,000 tons under the current quarter, it is considerably lower than was anticipated earlier this year. Ordinarily the third quarter grant is the highest of the year.

Overissuance for home canning and a decline in world sugar production are cited by OPA as the principal reasons for the prevailing acute shortage.

Bowles said the sugar reductions for all products will rule out, for one thing, the so-called fancy grade canned fruits, which require extra heavy syrup and heavy use of sugar. This will not in any way reduce the volume of fruits canned, he asserted, adding that while "the syrup won't be as heavy, the fruit will be sweeter."

Industrial users in these Ohio counties will receive allocation increases or decreases (figures from the general reduction) because of population changes based on war ration book 4 issuances and latest information on military personnel in the United States:

Allen from 10 per cent previously to 15, Hamilton none to 10, Lake 10 to 15, Stark none to 10.

Miss Field, Sgt. Cozad Plan Nuptials

The wedding date of Miss Lois E. Field and Sgt. Charles P. Cozad was announced at a beautifully appointed party given by Miss Faye Cozad last evening at her home on Park ave. The home was decorated with flowers.

Their marriage will be solemnized at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Christian church with Rev. C. P. Evans officiating. Open church will be observed.

In the contests Misses Maybelle Huston and Marian Davidson won prizes.

The refreshment table was graced with a wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. An umbrella was suspended from the chandelier over the table and from it were pink and green streamers to each place. On the end of the streamer was a scroll on which was written the names of the couple and the wedding date.

Sgt. Cozad has spent 16 months in the European war theater with the Eighth air force and recently returned to the states by plane. He landed at Windsor Locks, Conn. and came from Camp Atterbury, Ind. to Salem Wednesday.

Miss Field is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Field, E. State st. Sgt. Cozad is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cozad of Park ave.

Miss Ospeck Honored By Sorority Members

Families, Fiances May Join Husbands In Europe — Later

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 15 — The War department promised today to allow families and fiancées of servicemen in occupied Europe to join them "when conditions permit."

In a letter to Rep. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), John W. Martyn, administrative assistant to Secretary of War Stimson, said:

"You may be confident the War department is fully aware of the desirability of dependents and fiancées proceeding to Europe and will certainly relax the present restrictions when the conditions permit."

Mrs. Smith had suggested wives be permitted to join husbands who are assigned for a period of one year or more. She said her proposals would include fiancées who would go to Europe to marry and remain with their husbands.

The congresswoman said her proposal is "prompted by my desire to prevent disintegration of the American home and the American family life."

Martyn said: "The present War department policy prohibiting the travel of civilians to Europe for the purpose of joining military personnel upon whom they are dependent is made necessary by reason of the shortage of transportation."

LISBON BRIEFS

Lieut. Comdr. Atlee B. and Mrs. Hendricks were the guests of honor Wednesday evening at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hendricks on E. Lincoln way.

Polo Club's Barn Dance Is Scheduled Saturday

Elaborate decorations, costumed dancers and an old time barn dance atmosphere have been arranged for the fourth annual Salem Saddle and Polo club dance at the Salem Golf club Saturday night.

Dance proceeds will help the club finance the erection of new stables and improve a new polo field for post-war use.

Woody Woodell's Rangers, Sharon, Pa., radio band will furnish music for the affair. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed man and woman and to the most talented jitterbug among the attendants.

J. Brooke Votaw, Wallace Duncan, Raymond Moff and Bert Wallace are arranging the decorations. Franklin Smith, Walter Ferneland and Bruce Carey have charge of the ticket sales while Earl Grate, Ralph Hawley, John Doyle and Ed Sheen, Jr., are handling publicity.

Keep Clothes Well Brushed, Clean

BY ALICIA HART

HANDIEST aids for turning an office-drudge outfit into a Cinderella for the night are a clothes brush and a shoe brush kept in your desk drawer.

Use the clothes brush dry first to rid a dark dress of lint or flecks, then moisten the bristles. Slightly dampened and whisked over clothes, they can do a lot to wipe out sitting wrinkles, bring up fabric nap and revive a bloom.

For the ground-floor clean-up use a stiff-bristled brush, and to do a better job of freshening up fabric or suede slippers, have a can of cleaning fluid handy. Rubbed over uppers with an old stocking, slightly moistened, the cleaner can be depended upon to unsport fabric or suede shoes and dislodge grime that clings to bows or buckles.

Garlic salt will put zest in summer salad dressings.

Your refrigerator should be defrosted once a week or when the frost is about 1/4 inch thick.

A cold-water soaking loosens starchy foods, eggs and milk from dishes.

PERFECT CREWS MASTER EVERY DETAIL OF SHIP BEFORE THEY LEAVE IN PLANE

(By United Press)

ROSWELL, N. M.—The bombing of Tokyo is done long before the crews get there. It's really done right here, and the raid is a repeat performance.

Here, at the biggest Superfortress school in the world, through hour after hour, the 11-man crew learns every function of the huge bomber. They collectively study every working part of the ship until they know it thoroughly, graduate to their particular specialty, and then shift as a team.

But before they ever get here, the man is a veteran airman. Commanders, pilots and flight engineers all are fliers with hundreds of hours in four-motored bombers. Many are back from the war in Europe or the Pacific.

Their instructors are men who have flown the B-29 in combat. They know how she will do. They are here to show the new men.

Loss of Contraptions
They have to understand it. When Brig. Gen. Haywood S. Hanson, commanding general of the 8th Flying Training Wing who took the first B-29 to Saipan. "When they understand it they lose their fear of it." The fear is talking about it. The fear is talking about it. The fear is talking about it.

They are all broken down and put away, so every man in the ship can see before he ever gets into it, just how everything works. And when something goes wrong, he knows what to do.

The entire electrical system, for instance, is pulled out of the ship and set up on a wall just as it would be in the plane. Thus the engineer can get at any part of the system, powerful enough to light 250 homes, and learn more in an hour that he could in six days of digging around the ship.

In other rooms are the hydraulic system, complete with the giant wheels—the brakes cut away to show how they work, the fuel system, with transparent lines so the engineer can see the fuel running when he turns on the pumps, the complete power plant, automatic pilot, radio, and superchargers.

After the engineer is familiar with every detail of the ship, he is seated with a class of 40 other engineers before a mammoth working reproduction of his instrument panel. While the instructor jiggles the gauges from a control panel to simulate trouble, the engineer diagnoses the ailment.

Simulate Air Battles
He can simulate more trouble in 15 minutes than would be possible in a plane in 10 years. When the student is sure of himself, he moves on.

Then, and not until then, does he work out in the actual airplane. The same goes for the commander and pilot. Meantime, up at Las Vegas, Nev., the gunners and bombardiers have been working out with similar devices.

On one huge gunnery range, with dummy B-29's built up on stilts to simulate the plane in flight, the gunners work out with their sights as pursuit planes dive at them. The sights are the same as those in the plane itself, and are loaded with movie film. The men sweat as hard as they would if their lives depended on their marksmanship. The shouts over the intercommunications system that connects all the gun positions have the sound of battle.

When the gunner has been graduated from this range, he goes aloft with a full crew, where he shoots real bullets at attacking pursuit ships, with the camera still recording the hits. The special bullets shatter on contact with the plane's armor. There can be nothing more real this side of combat, and when the gunner is attacked by a Japanese, he's been through all the motions before.

Lines Up On Tokyo
Meanwhile, the bombardier has his eye glued to an eyepiece of the Speer bomb sight back at camp. Beneath him unrolls a movie of Tokyo as it looks from 30,000 feet. Hour after hour he lines up his target, releases his "bombs," and checks the result as the "city" slowly passes beneath him.

When he gets to Tokyo, he's been there before, too. Behind all this are days of paper work. Besides his instruments, the engineer—he's a pilot, too, remember—must know his mathematics. It's his job to figure how much gasoline his plane will need to get to the target and back, how many bombs can be carried, and how long it will take. The lives of the other 10 men depend on his calculations.

Three months after the first B-29s got to India where they hauled gasoline over the "hump," they had doubled their load through experience. That's how important it is.

The men who went out with that first crew averaged only 50 hours of experience with the ship. Now the B-29 men spend more time than that in the broken-down sections of the ship before they ever get into a plane.

As Gen. Hansell says, it saves lives, ships and time.

PROGRAM IS HELD BY BIBLE SCHOOL
The Vacation Bible school sponsored by Holy Trinity Lutheran church for two weeks closed today with a picnic at Centennial park.

selves into quite untenable positions, as Adolf Hitler might testify.

Actually, Japanese mettle has proved serious, and is likely to be more so in the homeland. One thing is certain. There is no laughing among the boys doing even the small-scale fighting which has occurred so far.

It may be hard to keep from laughing from time to time at Japanese political antics, but even the funniest of their admirals and generals are likely to provide us with some very sober moments.

the ship's side below the waterline, rupturing many fuel oil lines. Water rushed in, and the ship took a six degree list.

Fires broke out and burning planes and fuel scattered over great areas of the ship," the Navy report said. "The forward part of the flight deck was battered beyond use. One enemy suicide penetrated the side of the ship into the hangar deck where he exploded to cause a great fire. The crane forward of the bridge, the catapults and many guns were battered by the crashing planes and exploding bombs. Wreckage falling into the gun galleries on the side of the ship caused further fires there."

Acts of Heroism
However, the carrier was able to proceed.

Many heroic acts prevented even greater casualties and damage. An officer and two enlisted men were lowered over the ship's side to fight flames, and with the vessel under way at 25 knots they managed to bring the fire under control.

However, about an hour and a half after the first attack, with darkness setting in, more enemy planes appeared and one dropped another bomb on the stricken carrier before crashing. Severe damage from the second attack was soon brought under control, and the Sara was able to receive her airborne pilots.

Duffy Heads Potters For His 10th Term

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 14.—James M. Duffy of East Liverpool has been elected to his tenth consecutive two-year term as president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters (AFL). The national convention of the group has been cancelled for this year, Duffy said, but the new officers will take over in August. The brotherhood now has 25,000 members in 110 locals in Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee, California, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Indiana, Illinois and Massachusetts. Other officers named include: Secretary-treasurer, Charles F. Jordan, Sebring; Vice Presidents E. L. Wheatley, East Liverpool and Trenton, N. J.; James Slaven, East Liverpool; George Turner, East Liverpool, and T. J. Desmond, Minerva.

Cost of Government After War Foreseen High By Gen. Ayres

(By Associated Press)
 CLEVELAND, June 15.—Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres, economist of the Cleveland Trust Co., predicted today federal government expenditures in the post-war era would be two or three times as great as the average for the 10-year period before hostilities. Writing in his business bulletin, Gen. Ayres said: "Recent studies of postwar taxation have assumed that the expenditures of the federal government after this war might be held down to about 15 billions, and that they might be as great as 25 billions a year. "In the 10 years just before this war they averaged about 7.8 billions a year. Experience indicates that it is going to be difficult indeed to hold them down to two or three times that amount after peace returns." The analyst said America's economy is still mainly military, and that the shift to a normal civilian economy is much less rapid than it appears. "Cutbacks and terminations of war contracts are real," he said, "but while numerous, they are comparatively small as compared to those that will come into effect before next autumn. Gen. Ayres predicted transportation, both by land and sea, would present the great difficulties of the present year. In Dusseldorf, the Germans built a huge iron serpent monument to celebrate the taming of the Rhine river, whose winding floods ravaged the city in times past.

BUSY-NESS BOOMING FOR MEMPHIS MAN

MEMPHIS—If George W. Knox isn't the busiest man in Memphis he'd like to meet his competitor. Knox reports at 9 a. m. daily as outside salesman for an office equipment company. As time permits during the day, he collects for a funeral home. At 6 p. m. he reports to the funeral home where he is receptionist until about midnight. Knox then goes to bed at the funeral home—but until 8 a. m. he answers the telephone, taking ambulance and death calls. That's not all. He is ticket-taker at the baseball park. He gets off from regular work for afternoon games and also works there the one night a week he is away from the funeral home.

NO SORRY PLEASE MEN NEED SOUVENIRS

WILMINGTON, Calif.—Even before the fires were out, seamen of the U. S. S. Zellers, destroyer crippled by a Japanese suicide attack off Okinawa on April 12, were busy collecting souvenirs. "One man had both arms around a Japanese wing machine gun and was yelling: 'It's mine,'" related Lt. Charles Smylie, of Rosepoint, Mich., when the Zellers docked here recently for repairs.

SAFE AND SANE BURMA-INDIA AIR

LONDON—A world safety record is claimed by the India-based R. A. F. transport command which flies a daily average equal to the circumference of the earth in maintaining internal services for India and Burma. In 78,500 hours flying over 11,000,000 miles, only four fatalities occurred. During the past 15 months the transport group has carried 100,000 passengers, 15,000,000 pounds of freight and nearly 5,000,000 pounds of mail over an 18,000-mile route. To get some idea of the distances involved, a flight from Delhi to Rangoon equals London to Moscow.

HOSE MAKES SAPS OF RAT SAPPERS

COLUMBIA, S. C.—The city health department picked a score of rats from under a fire hose. The rat-ejection project came about when the sidewalk began caving from undermining. A health department brought the water to the rats, using a high pressure nozzle.

RAGS! OLD TEETH!

That is part of the job of the Fifth air force. Submarines, on the job, never talk; they only listen. The men who sent the calls for help never know if they have been heard. The airmen were taken aboard and since their injuries were in- sufficient to require hospital care, the submarine resumed her reg- ular patrol.

At one point along the route they encountered a flurry of crashing Japanese depth charges. The sub- and finally evaded the chase by re- maining submerged for two days.

Then she visited a small Jap- anese island and shelled its in- stalled, and again depth charges exploded viciously overhead.

Charno and the other fliers be- gan to think that after their narrow squeak with death in Bias bay they still were going to lose their gam- ble.

Some weeks later, however, the submarine returned to base and an official end was put to the bomber mission by having the names of the trio erased from the "missing in action" list.

Mullins Defeats Eagles 5-1, China Wins Over Deming, 3-0

Appedisian's Homer, Double Account For Four Mullins Runs; Bruderly Loses First

Setting down to mid-season form, Class A softball at Centennial park really looked like Class A softball last night as Mullins edged out a 5-1 victory over the Eagles to step back into a three-way tie for first place and the Salem China put down a Deming club to move themselves into the 500 bracket.

Deming men pulled their ace hurler, Kenny Bruderly, out of the bag to face Dale Ritchie of the China, and the two moundmen turned in excellent shows.

Bruderly, hurling his first game of the year, allowed the Potters just five hits and walked only two men. He had the Potters in control most of the way but slipped in the first frame when the only China runs crossed the plate.

Ritchie was in top form again, after a week's idleness, and set the Potters down one, two, three in nearly every frame. They only collected three hits in the seven innings and he fanned five and walked none.

The Potter runs were scored in the first after Bruderly walked Lead-off Man Jim Nocera. Bruce Cope singled scoring Nocera with the first and went to second on a fielder's choice when Joe Kappler batted. Kappler and Cope both scored with the final runs of the game when Steve Cibula lined out a double with two out.

Ritchie and Bruderly controlled the game all the way from then on and neither team made good on any serious threats. The China used Earl May, batting champion 10 years ago, on first base as a new recruit.

The Eagles, bolstered once more by the mound offerings of Tom Minor, turned in one of their best games so far, although they lost to Mullins 5-1.

Minor walked but one factory man, fanned one and allowed the heavy hitting club but five hits. His teammates backed him up well, committing only a single miscue.

Speedster Francis Lanney put Eagle after Eagle down with little trouble. His hurling was effective enough to limit the hitting to five hits—four singles and a double by George Ehrhart.

Mullins led off in the first with a pair of runs on a single by Gordy Scullion and a four banger by Jimmie Appedisian, 1944 Class A home run king. It was Appedisian's first of the season. He clubbed five last year.

The other Mullins' runs came in the second and third. Two were scored in the third and one in the second.

Mike Lanney led off in the second and was safe on an error. He scored, after advancing to third, when Alec Simon came through with a timely single to left center.

The Eagles got their lone tally in their half of the second. Ritchie singled and scored when George Ehrhart's well tagged double followed with two out.

In the fourth Lanney started it with a single. Scullion walked and Al Catlos popped out to roving short. Then Appedisian came through again to smash his second hit in three trips, a line double that scored both runs.

THREE-YEAR-OLD KING? - - By Jack Sords

HOOPER, OWNER OF DERBY WINNER, HAS REACHED HIS GOAL

Always Wanted To Be Horse, Cattle Breeder Raising the Best

NEW YORK—In the summer of 1943 Fred W. Hooper, a tall, lean Miamian with the look of a Texas cattleman, appeared at the yearling sales in Lexington, Ky., accompanied by plenty of cash. There he was introduced to a dapper little man named Ivan Parke.

"A friend, J. W. Rogers of Memphis, asked me to look you up," said Hooper. "I want you to bid on Stark, 2."

Parke thought the newcomer intended to invest a small amount, got the surprise of his life when Hooper went to $50,000 on Pericles, and when the auctioneer had bought 11 yearlings, including Hoop Jr., expending $100,000 for the lot. Also, he had engaged Ivan Parke to be his trainer.

Last summer Hooper spent another $100,000, getting 13 yearlings including Triumphal, a colt by Blenheim II out of Triumph II, for which he later refused $125,000.

Hooper has never lost on a horse deal. In World War I he bought a number of bad-tempered horses which "couldn't be broken," from the Army for $40, sold them shortly afterward for $400. He figures he also won out at the 1943 Lexington sales when he failed to get Pericles with his $50,000 bid. "The colt went to William Helis, Greek millionaire for $60,000."

Hooper Georgia Man
Fred W. Hooper was born in Cleveland, Ga., but now makes his home in Coral Gables, Florida, where he is in the construction business. He prefers to call himself a cattle man, relikes a discussion of Herefords, of which he has a prize herd on his Montgomery, Ala., farm. He is a graduate of the almost forgotten "bull rings" of Florida, Georgia and South Carolina and this is only his second season in what he terms big racing.

For eight years a half-breed he owned, Royal Prince, was the Man o' War of the southeastern half-mile. The Prince could run a half mile at catchweights around four turns in 48 seconds, won 49 out of 55 races. Sometimes he'd even win two races in an afternoon, and once, carrying a "big farm boy weighing 140 pounds," he won a $3,000 pot.

Hoopers present stable was the outgrowth of that activity. He decided he wanted to raise some thoroughbreds and see if he couldn't win some big stakes. Particularly the Kentucky Derby.

Wanted Horses
"When I first went to Lexington I intended to buy only a few nice fillies to race a little and use as brood mares," Hooper explains, "but the good looking colts were too much for me, so I bought a few."

Last winter Hooper offered Ray Bryson $75,000 for Director J. E. Later at Hialeah after the racing ban, he wandered into the office and remarked: "Looks like I'll have to go to work to support my horses—when I bought them I thought they'd support me."

Hooper loves golf, shoots in the low 70s, thins owning and racing horses is a good business. Someday he hopes to retire from the construction business and devote all his time to cattle and thoroughbreds.

"I'd get more pleasure out of raising a colt and having him do well than getting a million dollar contract," says Hooper.

When he said it he had the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes before him, with a chance for Hoop Jr., to cop the triple crown.

MEN ABOUT TOWN, COLUMBIANS WIN

The Men About Town whipped the Zions 9-4 last night in the B loop as the Columbians took Roberts 12-4 in the other junior loop contest.

The Columbians tallied 10 runs in the fifth frame to put their game on ice. The Men About Town led off with five and added four more later.

Eight Teams In Meet

DELAWARE, June 15.—Eight teams have entered the Ohio Wesleyan college track meet at Ohio Wesleyan university's Selby field tomorrow.

Ashland, Baldwin Wallace, Bowling Green, Case, Denison, Miami, Oberlin and Wesleyan have listed 101 men for the events.

Performers include Whitey Fisher of Miami, winner of several hurdle events in national competition; Ed Elyre and Bob Dunbar of Wesleyan, unbeaten this year as pole vaulter and dash man, respectively.

OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

ATHLETICS MEET RAVENNA AT 6:30

The Salem Athletics will journey to Ravenna at 6:30 tonight to meet the Twin Coach outfit in a contest to be played on the Ravenna stadium field.

The encounter will serve as a warm-up for the home season opener here at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Centennial park. Salem will meet the Massillon Hardwares here then.

So far this year the locals have won four, lost one and tied another.

Sport Chatter

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 15.—You can always blame the umpire when you lose a ball game, but did you ever hear of the ump winning one?... It happened not long ago in Brigham City, Utah.... The Brigham City Peaches were playing Camp Kearns and Hank Hansmann, 37-year-old Peaches' pitcher, was the state umpire.... When his team was trailing 4-1 after five innings, Hank decided something ought to be done, so he took over the mound from Mary Abrams and curbed the soldiers into submission.... That, plus some weird fielding by the Eagles gave Brigham City the game so the umpire also was listed as winning pitcher.

NEWSPRINT SHORTAGE

When Pittsburgh's sports writers, who will play the sportscasters in a War Bond baseball game at Forbes field, July 8, discovered that the radio men had signed up Art "Pres" Rooney, the town's leading football and fight man, Chairman John L. Herson decided it was high time to do a little recruiting, too.... Shortly afterward the writers' roster listed Paul Wanta, correspondent to the "Sarasota, Fla., Times," Jimmy Ripple, special correspondent to the "Tri-State News Bureau from Export, Pa., Moose Solters, correspondent without portfolio from Mars, Pa., and Pie Traynor, correspondent at large.

RIGHT ON THE SPUD

In a recent midge league game in Norfolk, Va., there was a runner on third when the catcher received the ball and turned his back to the mound.... The catcher wheeled and made a wild peg toward third.... As the "ball" sailed into left field, the runner dashed for home only to be met by the catcher, ball in hand.... Investigation revealed that the kid had pulled a potato out of his pocket and heaved it over the third baseman's head.... The umpire ruled out the play on the ground that "unsportsmanlike conduct" must cover the situation if no other rule did.

BLIND DATE

Just 75 years ago today baseball's longest winning streak came to an end because Harry Wright, captain of the Cincinnati Red Stockings, couldn't see anything but a victory.... The Reds, after 108 straight triumphs, were tied 5-5 with the Athletics after nine innings.... Everybody thought it would be called a draw, but Wright insisted on playing to a finish and Cincinnati went down 8-7, in the eleventh.

MEDWICK, EWALD ON BRAVE ROSTER

BY BILL KING

BOSTON, June 15.—In dire need of pitchers, the Boston Braves, who appear to be as eager to scatter baseball fortunes as Tom Yawkey did during his early years as a Red Sox owner, today had Outfielder Joe (Ducky) Medwick and Southpaw Hurler Ewald (0-0) Pyle on their roster.

According to Secretary Eddie Brannick of the New York Giants, erstwhile owners of Secretary and Pyle, those players came to the Braves in exchange for third-string Catcher Clyde Klutz with no cash involved.

Meanwhile baseball circles are humming with the report that the Braves paid the St. Louis Cardinals $100,000 for Pitcher Mort Cooper while throwing in the amazingly revived Charles (Red) Barrett to boot.

It can be taken for granted that much money changed hands before Medwick and Pyle were swapped for the unneeded but capable Klutz.

Akron Fistic Show Tonight

AKRON, June 15.—Middleweights Tommy Jackson of Cleveland and Lalo Berozo of Youngstown, O., will meet in one of the five-round finales of an eight-round amateur boxing card at the Akron armory tonight.

Lightweights Dave Marsh of Akron and Whitey Fresh of Sandusky, O., and Featherweights Nick Punatello of Youngstown and Willie McDougle of Cleveland will be matched in other five-round bouts.

Norton Cagers Choose B-G

AKRON, June 15.—Vern Dunham and Bob Stamp, 17-year-old members of Norton High school's basketball team which won the Akron Metropolitan league championship this year, said they would enroll at Bowling Green university next week. Dunham won all-league honors in basketball and football during the past season.

Leads Golf Tourney

CLEVELAND, June 15.—Wayne Lewis, Jr., 1944 titlist, and Tommy Whiteway, four-time champion, led a field of 119 entries today in competition for the Northern Ohio golf championship at Manakiki Country club.

Pittsburgh Hitting Puts Bucs On Top In National

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh hitting and jittery New York pitching have produced the inevitable result—the Giants have slid from first to third in the National league and the Pirates are roosting on top.

Bill Voiselle's ninth-inning phobia, developed since Manager Mel Ott plastered a $500 fine for not wasting a 2-0 pitch in St. Louis, continues to haunt the young man from Ninety Six, S. C.

It troubled him again yesterday when the talented righthander failed to hold a one-run lead as Brooklyn clubbed across two scores in the last frame to hand him his fifth successive defeat, 5-4.

Since Voiselle's fine the Giants have copped only two games and lost 10. From a cushion of 17 games over the .500 mark on May 27, the club has slipped to a 28-21 record in less than three weeks.

Injuries to key men like Phil Weintraub and Nap Reyes have crippled Ott's once-powerful attack but the decline of Pitchers Harry Feldman and Andy Hansen on top of Voiselle's failures have been the telling blows.

Frankie Frisch has the Pirates playing dashing heads-up ball and since the Fordham flash gave the batting order a thorough shakeup June 1, sending Third Baseman Bob Elliott to right field and Jeep Handley at the hot corner as a regular, the Buccos have won 10 of 14 contests.

A Discovery

Little Al Gionfriddo, overlooked in early spring, has turned into a .329 hitter since taking over an outfield job. Handley is batting .366 and Elliott is leading the league in runs batted in.

Pittsburgh took two from Chicago yesterday to take the league lead. Max Butcher outbowed the Cubs in the first game, 5-2, but Rip Sewell had to have help from Xavier Rescigno before the Pirates swept the second, 6-5.

The Dodgers' triumph, the sixth straight, moved the Brooks into second spot, only a half step behind Frisch's gang.

The Phillies who snapped a 16-game losing streak Wednesday shellacked Boston, 13-8. Vinny DiMaggio hit two homers.

Dizzy Trout made the mistake of throwing two home run balls to Vern Stephens, one with a man on, and it cost Detroit a 3-2 loss to St. Louis, clipping the Tigers' American league lead to a half game. Clem Hausmann handcuffed the

A SONG to REMEMBER

XXXII

The hours passed into days, the days into weeks, and the weeks into months and Jozef Elsner—grayer, thinner—never had a direct word from Frederic—"master pianist, master composer, and still my pupil, Monsieur"—as the old man never failed to tell anyone who would listen.

Frederic's star was in the ascendant. He was not only talked about, he was played by the master pianists of the day, including of course Franz Liszt himself.

Jozef Elsner gloried in Frederic's success. But not without reservations. Yet he could never hear the name of Chopin without a beam lighting his eye nor a bloom warming his cheek. If an occasional tear showed itself he rubbed it brusquely away, choosing to think it was the consequence of weak eyes rather than of a torn heart.

His visits to Pleyel et Cie became fewer. He hungered for news but there was never any news. Frederic had withdrawn from the world, voluntarily or otherwise. He appeared occasionally in the salons of the great—and would sometimes oblige a select audience with a rendition of one of his own compositions.

Whenever Jozef Elsner stopped in at Pleyel et Cie it was always on the pretext of obtaining Frederic's latest music.

One day a familiar voice greeted him. "Professor Elsner! How are you?"

It was Franz Liszt.

"Ah, Maestro. Fine—fine, thank you."

They shook hands; Liszt warmly, Elsner bravely.

"The teaching, Professor? How does it go?"

Jozef Elsner put on a bold front. "I have a pupil or two. Yes. And in 10 more years, Maestro—serious competition for you."

"I have no doubt of it," Liszt noticed the sheet music Jozef Elsner had just purchased. "Something of Frederic's?"

"Umm, I happened to be passing—Jozef Elsner said, seeking to cover his embarrassment. "Well, I enjoyed meeting you—"

Liszt held him. "You haven't seen him for a long time?"

Jozef Elsner's chin went up. "True—quite true, Maestro. But Monsieur Pleyel keeps me informed."

Francis Liszt took that statement for what it seemed to be worth, which was not much. "You know, then, that Frederic is not well?"

Jozef Elsner knew nothing of the kind but his pride would not let him admit his ignorance. He said, lightly: "There's no danger, is there?"

Francis Liszt did not answer.

"Well, you agree, don't you?"

"Yes," Liszt bowed his head. "I agree, certainly."

"Then what could be wrong? Nothing! Frederic is busy, Maestro. So am I. We both have our work." Jozef Elsner attempted a smile. "Well, Monsieur—"

Francis Liszt said earnestly: "When he plays occasionally—I mean in some salon—wouldn't you care to hear him?"

"Salon, Maestro?" Jozef Elsner shook his head. "No—really, salons are not in my circles—"

"Nevertheless, Professor, I shall see that you are invited—"

"Thank you just the same. Well, good day, Monsieur Liszt."

Liszt called after him in a jocular tone: "Remember, Professor—each time I shall see you have the invitation—"

"No—No, I'm afraid I wouldn't know what to do with it."

He strode from the room. George sidled to her desk. She unfolded the paper. She fingered it. She looked at it.

"Really, Louis," she said, raising her eyes; "I don't think news of Poland would disturb him very much. I don't think it would disturb him at all."

Although the liner Titanic went down in mid-ocean, hundreds of the victims were buried on land. A cemetery in Halifax, Nova Scotia, contains rows of tombstones marking the final resting place for scores picked up in life belts at sea.

Drivers of Army amphibious trucks (ducks) can now change the pressure of the air in their tires automatically by means of a sealed ball-bearing gadget attached to each wheel. The device deflates the tire when the "duck" encounters mud, sand or snow—inflates the tires when the vehicle has to travel over hard surfaces. It will also keep up full pressure in the tire until it can be changed, should it be pierced by a bullet.
